TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7th, 1862

Long Live President Mitre!

On Sunday, 5th inst, the nomination of President and Vice for the Argentine republic took place at the Senate-house. At 1 p.m., both Chambers of Congress met, to the number of 61, Dr V. Alsina, senator, taking the chair. Every part of the house was crowded, except the diplomatic box, and lots being drawn for the scrutineers, Messrs. Delgado, Campo, Quintana, and Aguirre, proceeded to examine the returns. Each of the provinces had sent duplicate lists, excepting Catamarca, which had not made any election, and the examination of these papers occupied over half an hour. At length Dr Quintana read the result as follows;

President—Gen. Mitre, unanimously		133	votes
Vice,	Dn M. Paz	91	„
„	Gen. Taboada	16	„
„	Gen. Rojo	6	„
„	D. M. Fragueiro	5	„
„	D. D. Sarmiento	5	„
„	D. M. Ocampo	3	„
„	Dr V. Sarsfield	3	„
„	Gen. Urdinarrain	3	„
„	Dr V. Alsina	1	„

The chairman, having declared the President-elect of the republic, General Bartolomé Mitre; and Vice-president, Dn. Marcos Paz, announced to the Congress that Gen. Mitre would not accept office until Sunday, when the solemn installation will take place. The Chambers then passed the formal decree of election. Strange to say, not a word of applause was heard, yet never was any elevation to the Argentine presidency regarded with such favor by all parties.

In the official paper of the nation, we read of various appointments to the vacant offices of the Republic. Thus General Gelly Obes has been named to the portfolio of War and Marine, and this branch of Provincial administration has been converted into that of the Nation. The Contaduria or Provincial Account-office has been also nationalised under its present heads SS Villegas and Aldama. Sor Posadas becomes postmaster general for the 14 provinces; and the Collector of Customs, with his staff, is a national functionary with the title, administrator of Nat. Revenues. The Prov. Treasurer is not exalted like the rest, but his duties are increased by the reception of the Contribucion Directa and other provincial imposts. These changes date from the 10th inst. so that next Sunday will see the Republic in great part organized.

It is rumored that the new Cabinet will include our present Minister Dr. Costa, Col. Sarmiento, Dr. Valentin Alsina and Dr. Velez Sarsfield. D. Regulo Martinez is spoken of as successor to the government of San Juan, of which place he is a native. The post of Governor of Buenos Ayres is open to much dispute: some say that it will remain vacant until May, and that Sor. Cazon, as locum tenens, will manage those camp-districts which are all that is left to the Prov. of Buenos Ayres. Others suppose that a provisional Governor will be elected, and Mssrs. Obligado, Riestra, Garaza and A. Alsina are mentioned as candidates.

Repudiation.

The result of Saturday evening's debate in Congress, on the public debt of this country, affords a lamentable proof of what party spirit will urge men to.

Owing to the natural formation of these countries, the wandering and nomadic character of the majority of the inhabitants, the number of unemployed military men, and the multiplicity of governments which at present exist in the Argentine republic, we are never surprised at hearing of a revolution or disturbance; but we must confess that we were unprepared to learn that there are men amongst us who, for any motive whatever, would lend themselves to a measure which tramples upon all public credit, violates good faith, and holds their country up to the whole world, as a precedent for dishonour and repudiation.

Much has been said and ritten on the advancement and rapid strides of improvement which this country is making, but we apprehend th t the people in Europe, when they learn the conduct of the legislature, on the public debt, would prefer less progression and more honesty.

It will be urged that no member has openly advocated the repudiation of the original debt, but we answer, if so, why question the validity of the very bonds in which it was funded? there cannot be even a pretext of legality in such conduct. All the world knows that a bill, a note, or even a bond endorsed, previous to maturity, debars the maker from setting up any plea of undue or improper consideration: the only defence allowable in an action of indorsee v. maker, is that of forgery. Were this the defence set up against the recognition of these bonds, we could understand it, and smile at its ingenuity; but, so far from this being the case, all concede that the 3 millions in question were duly and properly executed, every formality usual on the execution of such documents is admitted to have been observed. What, then, is the ground alleged for refusing payment? Forsooth, that Mr Buschental, the original contractor of the loan, has not paid half their value, and that consequently these bonds are so much waste paper.

Were Mr Buschental the holder of these securities, such a plea, although impolitic, might be excusable: but as it is notorious that he has long since disposed of them, and that the present holders are, for the most part, foreign merchants who took them in payment for goods sold, we cannot characterize this surreptitious defence as aught but an attempt to defeat or postpone the just claims of all the merchants in town, and irretrievably ruin the credit of the country

We cannot witness such an act without recording, in the name of every foreign holder, our protest against it—without stigmatizing the motives which induce it—without deprecating the suicidal policy which suggests it.

We appeal to those very men who now so strenuously support the repudiation of these bonds, to pause before they blast for ever the reputation of their country, and cast a stain upon its credit which will take ages to obliterate.

It cannot be possible that there are Argentines who seek to make their country the bye-word for dishonor and repudiation—who labour to ruin its prospects, and convert its laws and institutions into anarchy and bloodshed—who seek, with frivolous pretences, to throw dust in the eyes of their too-credulous fellow-countrymen, for the purpose of hurrying on a measure which will for ever damn the prospects of this country.

We will not bring ourselves to believe that there are such men amongst us. Rather let us suppose that those who have supported the repudiation of these bonds, have done so from a misconception of the facts, and an erroneous obstinacy as to the results.

Regarding, therefore, the character and welfare of the country which we live in, and the lamentable results which will inevitably attend any deviation from strict honour and integrity in the payment of the national debt, we implore the members of Congress as they value their own and their country's good—as they value their reputation abroad and their tranquillity at home, to ratify the acts of their predecessors, and thus recognize these obligations. The day cannot be far distant when foreign capital will be required to develope the inexhaustible resources of this country. What, may we ask, will be the position of this republic then, when branded with repudiation and dishonor, its agents or commissioners enter the European money markets, to negotiate a loan? Will not these very bonds haunt them, like Banquo's ghost, until, tired and discomfited at every door being shut against them, they return to this country, to tell the Government and their fellow-citizens, that no man will lend 5 dollars on the credit of the nation, and that in South America, as elsewhere, honesty is the best policy.

Sr. Pestalardo and his Co.

As it is the express wish of all the admirers of Mlle Altieri, that she would sing one of her national melodies, we trust the above named gentleman will request Miss Altieri to favor us with the 'last rose of Summer' 'Kathleen Mavourneen', 'the Minstrel boy,' or in fact any of the Melodies which she may select.

Any disinclination of Mr: Pi. to meet the wishes of the public, will merit that peculiar patronage which is so often afforded to indiscreet managers in London, Paris, New York, and elsewhere.

Todavia El Algodon!

Pavon, October 4th, 1862

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Mi querido amigo—

Are you getting tired of my being so troublesome to you? or do you set me down as a creature labouring under a phaso of "cacothes scribendi,, whereof the most prominent symptom may be designated gossypo-phobia, or in plain English cotton-madness?

Because if so, I beg of you to have a little patience with me when you know, as I, the importance of the subject before us.

A few words to the estancieros of Catamarca, [about whose cotton such favorable reports come from Liverpool,] may not be out of place here. Of course there is more than one Standard bearer in that province and even were there not, the subjects of this letter ought to interest the owners of land in all the provinces not even excepting the honorable Senate of Buenos Ayres and the National Government likewise For I have more figures to show that may startle them, inasmuch as they will prove that never was there subject discussed there since the days of De Solis and Mendoza, that could have proved itself so pre-eminently a National Question as the cultivation of cotton in the districts of the river Plate.

I am informed that previous to the year 1840 cultivated cotton was brought from Catamarca to Cordova and sold at the latter place at from 7 to 8 Bolivian reals say [about three shillings per arrobe. It needs no great knowledge of arithmetic to see that this was little more than three half pence per pound most probably that cotton was superior to the specimen I mentioned about a month ago coming from the same place which was valued in Liverpool at one and 10d per pound The migration from Buenos Aires and Santa Fe to Catamarca, particularly in Rosas' time, my friend tells me, had tended to turn the attention of the agricultural parts of the community to the cultivation of alfalfa as a better paying crop than cotton: perhaps under the circumstance it was a better paying crop. But Tempora mutantur et nos mutamur in illis. said I to my friend and asking him when he went into town to call for the first boy he met coming out of school with a table-book this is what we made out between us.

There are 640 acres to the square mile: on the risk of being considered prolix Dear Sir I must ask you to be particular about my figures; this number multiplied by 9 makes 5,760 acres in a square league Now, then, By Mr Du Coin's speech which I sent you, as well as by the prospectus of the Western Australian Cotton Company, I find that from 4 to 600 lbs of clean cotton are the average crop per acre. Some old Latin poet, who lived before the days of cotton, said: " In medio tutissimus ibis; " and therefore, to be agreeable I take the medium, calculating 500 lbs to the acre. Well, 500 times 5760, multiplying the acres by the lbs, shew a result of 2,880,000 lbs. [Please look sharp at your Devil, that he makes these last figures what they mean two millions eight hundred and eighty thousand lbs in weight per league. Then we find that limiting this cotton to one shillings per lb in Liverpool, we have the almost incredible amount of a hundred and forty four thousand pounds sterling, of British money, as the produce of one crop, in a single square league of land!

Try the same yourself, or any of your readers, and if I be wrong, smother me!

To sum up: labour of men who know the art of cotton planting and cotton caring must be to be had in Catamarca, and it would be worth while trying to get them to make the experiment. The facts which I gave in my last, of the wonderful increase of cotton production in Egypt, lead me to infer that "las Langostas" can do it no harm—for Egypt is the native land of locusts. Finally, if no better plan of obtaining water can be devised than by means of 'Norias', I have no fear of the profits being able to pay well for them.

Why, if I were not fettered down with the dread of being stigmatized as a dreamer, I might say that cultivated cotton here would realise nearer to two hundred thousand lbs per league; but I stick to to the smaller, till convinced that I am wrong.

And until this is done, I defy any Finance or other minister—any saladeristo, or estanciero, or sheep farmer, or share holder in the San Juan silver mines, to prove to me a better way of securing peace and prosperity to the Argentine nation than by encouraging a species of industry that will enable the tillers of the soil to raise from a hundred to two hundred thousand pounds from the cultivation of a single league of land.

GOSSYPIUM.

Further from the U. S.

The Richmond Examiner, of the 24th, has the following:—"It is believed in Eastern North Carolina that an insurrection has taken place among the several thousand runaway negroes on Roanoke Island. It is said that becoming enraged with the harsh usage experienced at the hands of their new masters, they took advantage of an opportunity presented while the Yankees were at dinner, and seizing the stacked arms, fired into them and killed several. The Yankees recovering from the panic into which they were at first thrown, retook their guns and slaughtered almost every negro in the island. From the postmaster at Goldsboro' we learn that heavy firing was heard in the direction of Newbern on Monday evening, beginning at three & continuing until seven o'clock, p. m." The Enquirer, of the same day, contains the following:—"We learn by a gentleman from North Caroline, that the Yankee forces on Roanoke Island having become very oppressive in their manners towards the negroes in their employ, the latter, a few days ago, rose upon the Yankees and killed a large number of them. Subsequently the Yankees armed themselves with revolvers, and massacred about eight hundred of the negro labourers. The next day the Yankees evacuated the Island."

Advices from New Orleans report the heat as excessive, but nothing more. General Butler had employed a large number of scavengers.

One of the greatest obstacles to the enrolment of fresh troops is said to be the difficulty of persuading the applicants that the payment on account of bounty will be honourably met.

General Nelson had ordered five hundred negroes, belonging to the confederate, to be sent to him to do army works, such, it is supposed, as the re-building of bridges and the construction of the fortifications.

The Navy Department had received a report from Lieut. Rogers, commanding the United States steamer Huntsvile, dated July 16th, and also one dated 21st, stating that he fell in with the British schooner Agnes, of Nassau, from Harbor Island, with a cargo of cotton and rosin. Finding no papers or other documentary proof of property on board, he seized her and carried her to Key West. Lieut. Rogers also afterwards captured the rebel steamer Reliance, bound to Nassau, with 243 bales of Sea Island Cotton. The Reliance was also taken to Key West.

A general release of all Confederate prisoners in the old capital was about to take place; they were to be transported to Fortress Monroe for exchange.

The produce merchants of New York have held a meeting at the Produce Exchange, at which a series of resolutions were adopted declaring it to be the duty of the merchants to sustain the Government in any way. A committee was appointed to collect subscriptions towards raising a regiment under the auspices of the produce merchants. The sum of $5,000 was subscribed at the meeting.

The President, in an official order, had announced the death of Ex-President Martin Van Buren. As a mark of respect, the Executive Mansion and the several Executive Departments, excepting those of the War and Navy, were draped with black, and nearly all public business was ordered to be suspended. The war and Navy, were draped with black, and nearly all public business was ordered to be suspended. The War and Navy Departments were instructed to cause suitable military and naval demonstrations to be paid to the memory of the illustrious dead. The Ex-President had been interred at Kinderhook, in a plain unostentatious manner.

A most enthusiastic War meeting has been held in Independence-square Philadelphia, at which thirty-five thousand persons are said to have been present. The resolutions, unanimously adopted, call upon the Government to employ all the power and means the Executive can command to put down the rebellion, and thank the President for the recent change in policy in the treatment of the rebel property. Speeches were made by Hon Wm. D. Kelly, Ex-Gov. Pollock, Daniel Droughton, Col. Forney & others. A letter was received from Edwin Forrest, inclosing a check for $1,000, to aid in the objects of the meeting. A large force was at work upon the New Ironsides in Philadelphia. The guns are to be of the heaviest calibre, her officers have been appointed, and she is expected to make her trial trip within a week Numerous sensation meetings, pledging support to the President had been held in various parts of the Federal States

The items of intelligence by the Bombay mail are few but not altogether devoid of interest. The Sultan Ahmed Jan has been defeated by Dost Mahomed's sons, and the Ameer himself is said to be in full march upon Herat. Reinforcements, according to the Bombay Gazette, are to be sent from Bengal to China, and active preparations are being made for the purpose. A line of packet ships is to be established between Bombay and the principal ports in the Persian Gulf by an eminent mercantile house in that city, and the services of an able officer of her Majesty's Indian navy have been secured for the management of the line. Business is flourishing, and the cotton market is unprecedentedly excited.

The Emperor of the French has decided upon immediately calling into active service the 7858 young soldiers of the class of 1861 appointed to the marines by circular allotment last month; and the Paris journals of last evening announce that orders have been sent to the squadron of evolution in the Mediterranean to assemble forthwith at Toulon. The critical state of Italian affairs is the reason alleged for this latter step.

The patient's constitution was quite worn out, under so many practitioners, and although after the first appearance of rapid consumption, (the National chest being affected,) a change of air was ordered from Parana to this city, still the treatment was unskilful and resulted fatally. Deceased paid no debt but one —the debt of Nature The loss will nevertheless be regretted by a large circle of deploring friends, who will long preserve the memory of deceased We understand he leaves a young family wholly unprovided for. Depeches Telegraphiques

Raguse, 12 août.

Le soin d'arranger le différence turco-monténégrin a été confié á la conférence de Constantinople.

L'attentat dirigé contre le prince de Montenegro a eu lieu pendant les fêtes données en l'honneur de la princesse Darinka. Le cheval du prince a été tué.

New-York, 13 août.

Aucun changement important ne parait avoir eu lieu dans la position de Mac-Clellan.

On annonce du Sud et de l'Ouest divers succés des confédérés; qui se seraient emparés notamment de Báton-Rougue.

Les pertes des fédéraux dans l'affaire de Cedar-Mountain s'élévent á 1,500 hommes.

New-York, 13 août.

Les confédérés ne paraissent nullement dans l'intention d'attaquer le général Mac-Clellan. Ils concentrent des forces considérables sur la rive méridionale de la riviére James.

Les confédéres se sont emparés d'Indépendence, en Missouri. Ils y ont trouvé une grande quantité de provisions.

Les journaux du Sud annoncent que les confédérés ont pris Báton-Rouge le 6 aprés avoir battu les fédéraux dont ils auraient pris les effets de campement et les équipages.

Le Général fédéral Willams a été tué. Le général Brakenridge a pris position sur la riviére Collets, á dix milles de Báton-Rouge.

Les Journaux du Sud réclament aussi la victoire pour leur parti á Tuzewal, prés de Cumberland Gap, oú les fédéraux auraient été battus avec de grandes pertes.

A la Nouvelle-Orléan, le général fédéral Phelps a donné sa démission parce que le général Butler lui a refusé des armes pour l'armement des négres.

—En Allemagne, la compétition de l'Autriche et de la Prusse en matiére de prépondérance fédérale se dessine de plus en plus. La Prusse refuse absolument d'adhérer aux propositions dont l'Autriche a ussi la Diéte, savoir: 1° l'établissement d'un tribunal fédéral; 2° la création d'une assemblée de délegués, á laquelle seraient soumis les projets de loi concernant la procédure civile et le droit des obligations.

—On connait maintenant les vues du gouvernement de Guillaume 1er pour ce qui concerne la réorganisation de la marine prussienne. Il veut qu'elle soit mise au niveau de celles des puissances maritimes de deuxiéme rang, telles que le Danemark et la Suéde.

—Pour la défense des côtes, la construction de plusieurs frégates cuirassées et de chaloupes canoniéres est indispensable.

—La dépense de cette augmentation de la marine est évaluée á 45 millions de thalers.

—On écrit de Vienne que les forces autrichiennes, en ce moment en Vénétie, se montent á environ 120.000 hommes, en y comprenant les garnisons des places fortes.

—L'Empereur a daigné, á l'occasion de la solemnité du 15 août et sur la proposition de S. Exc. le garde des sceaux, accorder des grâces, commutations ou réductions de peine á 1,063 condamnés de diverses catégories.

Marseille, 16 août.

Des voyageurs venant du Levant annoncent que la cause des Monténégrins excité au plus haut degre le patriotisme dans toute la Grece.

Le nombre des volontaires qui vont grossir l'armée du prince Nicolas augmente tous les jours.

—L'amnistie du 8 août n'a satisfait personne á Varsovie. On s'attend á de nouveaux événements.

—On assure que les réponses du Hanovre et de Hesse-Darmstadt au sujet du traité de commerce, ont été remises hier au ministre des affaires étrangéres. Ces gouvernents auraient adopté les conclusions de la Baviére et du Wurtemberg

Le duché de Brunswick a adopté le traité franco-prusien.

—L'ambassadeur russe á Constantinople a demandé qu'en armistice eút lieu dans le Montenegro. Cette demande a été appuyée par le représentant de la France.

Les Turcs se sont repliés sur Zaéljk

La princesse Darinka est arrivée aujourd'hui á Catarro. Elle part demain pour le Montenegro.

Les lettres de Palermo, en date du 10, annoncent que Garibaldi dispose de quatre corps de volontaires. L'un de ces corps est commandé par lui même, le second par son fils Menotti, qu'il a élevé au grade de général, le troisiéme par Garrao, et le quatriéme par Bentivegna. Ces chefs évitent tout engagement avec les troupes royales, et attendant.

Un journal de Berlin, la "Gazette de la Bourse", et plusieurs autres journaux aprés elle, avaient parlé d'une démarche que le gouvernement français aurait faite auprés du cabinet de Vienne pour le déterminer á prendre part á un congrés qui aurait pour objet de régler la question italienne en prenant pour base la reconnaissance du nouveau royaume. Un journal officieux de Vienne, la "Gazette du Danube," dément cette nouvelle.

On assure que les instructions envoyées á l'ambassadeur de France á Constantinople sont conçues dans un esprit tres conciliant. On pense que les affaires de Servie seront entiérement réglées dans la prochaine conférence.

Le gouvernement ottoman concentre des troupes á Widdin, sur la frontiére de Servia. Ces troupes sont arrivées par la Danube á leur destination.

Une dépéche télégraphique á déja annoncé l'arrivée á Cattaro de la princesse Darinka. Les lettres de Trieste confirment cette nouvelle. La princesse, qui est veuve du prince Danilo, á quitté mercredi cette ville, se rendant a Cettigne. Quelques dissentimens s'étaients entre elle et le prince Nicolas, depuis l'avénement de ce dernier. Mais en apprenant les dangers que court son pays, elle n'a pas hésité á oublier des griefs personnels et á apporter á son neveu le concours de son influence et de sa popularité. On sait que la princesse Darinka a joué un rôle considérable sous le régne précédent.

LES
PAR
VICTOR HUGO.

(Suite.)

A l'époque de sa naissance, le directoire existait encore. Point de nom de famille, elle n'avait pas de famille; point de nom de baptême, l'église n'était plus lá. Elle s'appella comme il plut au premier passant qui la rencontra toute petite, allant pieds nus dans la rue. Elle reçut un nom comme elle recevait l'eau de nuées sur son front quand il pleuvait. On l'appela la petite Fantine. Personne n'en savait davantage. Cette créature humaine était venue dans la vie comme cela. A dix ans, Fantine quitta la ville et s'alla mettre en service chez des fermiers des environs. A quinze ans, elle vint á Paris "chercher fortune." Fantine était belle et resta pure le plus longtemps qu'elle put. C'était une jolie blonde avec de belles dents. Elle avait de l'or et des perles pour dot; mais son or était sur sa téte et ses perles étaient dans sa bouche.

Elle travailla pour vivre; puis toujours pour vivre, car le cœur a sa faim aussi, elle aima.

Elle aima Tholomyés.

Amourette pour lui, passion pour elle. Les rues du quartier latin, qu'emplit le fourmillement des étudiants et des grisettes, virent le commencement de ce songe Fantine, dans ces dédales de la colline du Panthéon, oú tant d'aventures se nouent et se dénouent, avait fui longtemps Tholomyés, mais de façon á le rencontrer toujours. Il y a une maniére d'éviter qui ressemble á chercher. Bref. l'églogue eut lieu.

Blachevelle, Listolier et Fameuil formaient une sorte de groupe dont Tholomyés était la tête. C'était lui qui avait l'esprit.

Tholomyés était l'antique étudiant vieux, il était riche; il avait quatre mille francs de rente; quatre mille francs de rente, splendide scandale sur la montagne Sainte-Geneviéve. Tholomyés était un viveur de trente ans, mal conservé. Il était ridé et édenté; et il ébauchait une calvitie dont il disait lui-même sans tristesse crâne á trente ans, genou á quarante. Il digérait médiocrement, et il lui était venu un larmoiement á un oil. Mais á mesure que sa jeunesse s'éteignait, il allumait sa gaité; il remplaçait ses dents par des lazzis, ses cheveux par la joie, la santé par l'ironie, et son œil qui pleurait riait sans cesse. Il était délabré, mais tout en fleurs. Sa jeunesse, pliant bagage bien avant l'âge, battait en retraite en bon ordre, éclatait de rire, et l'on n'y voyait que du feu. Il avait eu une piéce refusée au Vaudeville. Il faisait çá et lá des vers quelconques. En outre, il doutait supérieurement de toute chose, grande force aux yeux des faibles Donc, étant ironique et chauve, il était le chef. Iron est un mot anglais qui veut dire fer. Serait ce de lá que viendrait ironie?

Un jour Tholomyés prit á part les trois autres, fit un geste d'oracle et leur dit:

—Il y a bientôt un an que Fantine, Dahlia, Zéphine et Favourite nous demandent de leur faire une surprise. Nous la leur avons promise solennellement. Elles nous en parlent toujours, á moi surtout. De même qu'á Naples, les vieilles femmes crient á saint Janvier: Faccia gialluta, fa o miracolo, face jaune, fais ton miracle! nos belles me disent sans cesse: Tholomyés, quand accoucheras-tu de ta surprise? En même temps nos parents nous écrivent. Scie des deux côtés. Le moment me semble venu. Causons.

Sur ce, Tholomyés baissa la voix et articula mystérieusement quelque chose de si gai qu'un vaste et enthousiaste ricanement sortit des quatre bouches á la fois et que Blachevelle s'écria: C'est une idée!

Un estaminet plein de fumée se présenta, ils y entrérent et le reste de leur conférence se perdit dans l'ombre.

Le résultat de ces ténébres fut une éblouissante partie de plaisir qui eut lieu le dimanche suivant. Les quatre jeunes gens invitérent les quatre jeunes filles

III

Quatre á quatre

Ce qu'était une partie de campagne d'étudiants et de grisettes, il y a quarante cinq ans, on se le représente malaisément aujourd'hui. Paris n'a plus les mêmes environs. La figure de ce qu'on pourrait appeler la vie circumparisienne a complétement changé depuis un demi-siécle; ... [illegible] aujourd'hui Fécamp comme alors on disait Saint-Clond. Le Paris de 1862 est une ville qui a la France pour banlieue.

Les quatre couples accomplirent consciencieusement toutes les folies champêtres possibles alors. On entrait dans les vacances, et c'était une chaude et claire journée d'été. La veille, Favourite, la seule qui sût écrire, avait écrit ceci á Tholomyés au nom des quatre: "C'est un bonne heure de sortir de bonheur." C'est pourquoi ils se levérent á cinq heures du matin. Puis ils allérent, á Saint-Clond par le coche, regardérent la cascade á sec, et s'écriérent: cela doit être bien beau, quand il y a de l'eau! déjeunérent á la Tête Noire, oú Castaing n'avait pas encore passé, se payérent une partie de bagues au quinconce du grand bassin, montérent á la lanterne de Diogéne, jouérent des macarons á la roulette du pont de Sévres, cueillirent des bouquets á Puteaux, achetérent des mirlitons a Neuilly, mangérent partout des chaussons de pommes, furent parfaitement heureux.

The South Down
SHEEP WASH.
A sure cure for the Scab in Sheep
No Sheep-Farmer should be without it.

This valuable preparation which is now used by nearly all the wool growers of this country, is a concentrated extract, one pound of which is equal to ten pounds of tobacco, retaining in this compact form all the properties of the raw material. The only labor required to render the wash ready for use, is, to stir the paste into the quantity of cold water, needed for the number of sheep to be cured.

The most satisfactory recommendations of its perfect safety, simplicity and utility, from the principal Estancieros of this country may be had on application to the undersigned. Full directions for use are given on each tin.
